acceligence collaborate: an upgraded client experience, with mobile apps coming soon

News

October 6, 2026

Category: company news

Tags: app, apple, collaboration, google, mobile, portal

We've rolled out the next generation of acceligence collaborate, our secure collaboration platform for clients, executive advisors, consultants, and project teams.

The upgraded platform provides a streamlined place to access project information, share files and resources, communicate with acceligence teams, and stay connected throughout an engagement. Existing clients have been transitioned to the new experience, with additional capabilities continuing to roll out.

A better collaboration experience

The new acceligence collaborate platform is designed to make working together simpler, faster, and easier to navigate. Clients and team members can access the platform from their browser today, with the information and resources they need organized in one place.

The transition also creates a foundation for continued enhancements to the client experience, including new features, improved collaboration capabilities, and expanded mobile access.

Mobile apps are coming soon

New acceligence collaborate mobile apps for Apple iOS and Android are currently being prepared for release and will be available through the Apple App Store and Google Play Store in October/November 2026.

If you reach this page from one of our mobile app links before the new apps are available, you're in the right place. Please check back soon for updated download links.

In the meantime, acceligence collaborate remains available through your web browser.

We look forward to introducing the new mobile experience and additional enhancements in the weeks ahead.

Stay tuned.